

Can you give me an update on the north road paving?

We are staying at La Terrazas in December 2015 and want to know how far you think the paved road will have been finished by then.

Concrete road goes as far as Belizean Shores, with no plans to go farther.

New good quality aggregate road is to begin at Belizean Shores and reach north several miles. Work begins soon, so i would anticipate a smooth ride by December 2015.

For discussion on the northern road, here is a thread on the message board about that.
