

Is there camping on mainland Belize?

Article Number: 109 | Rating: Unrated | Last Updated: Thu, Dec 7, 2006 12:01 AM

Here are a few places to camp on the mainland, and some other lodges and hotels not listed here often will allow campers to pitch a tent on their grounds, and of course that's also the case with private landowners (though there could be a safety factor):

Lagoon Campground, north of Corozal Town near the border (also set up for RVs, about the nicest little RV place in the country)

Caribbean Campground, in Corozal Town

The Trek Stop, near San Ignacio, Cayo

Mida's, Clarissa Falls, Inglewood in Cayo

Howler Monkey Lodge, Bermudian Landing

Cosmos, San Ignacio

Chaa Creek, San Ignacio (has "safari tents" set up)

Mountain Equestrian Trails, Pine Ridge

Clive's Campground, Placencia

Vega's on Caye Caulker

Following are some of the reserve/park areas with some type or another of "official" camping. At some of the other parks and archeological sites (Altun Ha, for example) camping is permitted but with prior permission.

Cockscomb Preserve, Stann Creek

Community Baboon Sanctuary

Five Blues Lake, near Belmopan

Bocatura Bank, on the Sittee River

Douglas De Silva in the Pine Ridge

Posted : Marty Casado - Thu, Dec 7, 2006 12:01 AM. This article has been viewed 5421 times.

Online URL: <https://ambergiscaye.com/help/article.php?id=109>