

What are the languages spoken in Belize?

Article Number: 34 | Rating: 2.4/5 from 5 votes | Last Updated: Thu, Dec 21, 2006 11:33 PM

English is the official language and the language of instruction in schools but almost everyone speaks an English dialect, or Creole patios, the vernacular of the country. Spanish is also widely spoken. It is taught in primary and secondary schools in order to further develop bi-lingualism. In certain areas of the country, such as Orange Walk and Corozal District in the north and the Cayo district in the west, Spanish is spoken as a mother tongue by the majority of the people. In the southern districts of Stann Creek and Toledo, there are people whose first language is Garifuna or Maya.

For more information on the languages of Belize, click here.

Posted : Marty Casado - Thu, Dec 21, 2006 11:33 PM. This article has been viewed 14829 times.

Online URL: <https://ambergriscaye.com/help/article.php?id=34>